The first international magazine on videocassettes

internationales forum des jungen films

INFERMENTAL is an international magazine, appearing every four months on ~~V~~video-cassette, set up as a type of encyclopedia for new tendencies from all ~~cultural~~ ^{all} areas. The various editions are then let out to institutions or private persons and can also be purchased as a complete archive

INFERMENTAL functions internationally as a circulating info - storage.... ^{systems}

Useful for all cultural creators, as also ^{well as} for the public, that is otherwise very much limited to the thriller/pornographic monotony from the thoroughly commercial videotape - distributors.

INFERMENTAL shows, in a brand new way, interdisciplinary collections with film examples, ^{of} festival write-ups, interviews, personal statements, scientific articles, examples ^{of} film and video experiments, music clips, trendy local articles and documentations.

INFERMENTAL is moved on continuously to new places by an independent network, where it is produced and distributed by new editors. Each editorial ^{staff} can therefore use its own concept; the project develops continuously. - there is no rigid control. INFERMENTAL does not want to compete with the present media systems, but feels itself more as a constructive ^{extension} extenditure. Also compared with further communication ^{extension} developments, i.e. cable TV, picture plates, digital storage-possibilities, independent networks.

IN CONNECTION WITH THE 'INTERNATIONALE FORUM DES JUNGEN FILMS' WE WILL BE SHOWING INFERMENTAL EDITION II:

daily from 16.00 onwards in the arsenal²
